ABOUT

Other Dimensions in Music is a collective creative improvising quartet of epic proportions. Every time that the group performs, there are no charts and there is no pre-ordained destination. These men are masters of music all ; their virtuosic and deeply passionate individual voices, and seemingly telepathic communication with one another, reflect and amplify their combined century of dedication to Music.

QUOTES

« It is this openness that provides the link, missing in some people's minds, between free jazz and other styles of jazz, blues, funk, reggae and African music (...) The years of playing together have resulted in an almost telepathic understanding between the band members where the slightest gesture can be picked up. » John Sharpe, All about Jazz

« When a lot of people think of the avant-garde, they tend to think about the blaring aspects rather than the specifics of phrasing and musicality. With us, that screaming element is in there, but we've never felt that screaming and bleating for its own sake was the answer. » Roy Campbell

« Other Dimensions has not only transcended the conceptual boundaries that has been labled Jazz, they also carry the original intent and purpose of all sacred traditions. » Hamid Drake
